WAR, NOT POLITICS.

The present trouble with Mexico is not a political fight, but a real, genuine war with all the conditions. The Wall Street Journal takes the matter up and says conclusively that this is war, not politics, when it states that "war with Mexico, however it may have been brought about and however it could have been avoided, is a question that concerns all our people.
They must not merely refrain from giving in any way aid and comfort to the enemy, but they must actively cooperate with the administration in prosecuting the war to a successful conclusion."

"But the re-election of President Wilson is a party question. If it is related to the other in the minds of democratic politicians, then they have been guilty of a betrayal of the country on the assumption that the voter would be disinclined to change leaders with such a nation as Mexico, which could not in any real sense threaten our integrity without foreign assistance, whatever the cost of subjugation might be."

"When Secretary Daniels appeals to the country editors to take the patriotic course of supporting the administration, he commits an act very like impudence. There is no question of the patriotism of a class of which the country may well be proud.
But what Mr. Daniels seeks to do is to enlist their active support of the president for reelection, under cover of an appeal to patriotism. Patriotism shows in acts, not in words.
Would anybody call the administration of the navy in the past three years, patriotic?"

"It is not difficult to see the danger of tying up our entire effective army and our trained militia in the task of reducing Mexico to reason and order. And consider the dangers, with men of the type of Carranza to deal with, are of great importance. Berlin openly boasts of a 'German success' in Mexico. Suppose Carranza presumes upon this to declare himself the ally of the central powers, and to confiscate the property of the entente powers, cutting off the supply of oil to the allied nations?"

"Is there any doubt that he would be encouraged to do everything to complicate the problem for the United States? Suppose he put Japan in a position where she felt bound to protect her citizens on the west coast of Mexico, falling such protection from the United States army? All these things are on the cards, little as the administration may realize it.
But with the administration's record in foreign affairs, one of the most humiliating chapters in American history, is this any kind of plea for four years more of Daniels, McAdoo and Skelton Williams, and most of all, of Woodrow Wilson himself?"

H. C. BUELL.

H. C. Buell, superintendent of the Janesville public schools since 1901, has tendered his resignation to take up other work at the state school for the deaf at Delavan. The announcement of his retirement from work in the local schools will come as a surprise to many, and expressions of regret are heard. Mr. Buell has been a most efficient school man and has brought the Janesville schools up to a high state of efficiency. He goes from Janesville to his new field of work followed by the thoughts of the many friends he has made during his residence here. Aside from his identification with the school life of the city he has been prominent in religious and social affairs and has taken a prominent part in the civic life of the community and he will be missed from the many activities he has been connected with. In leaving Janesville, Mr. Buell takes with him the heartiest best wishes for success in his new and well-deserved promotion.

JEFFRIS CAMPAIGN.

From all parts of the state come echoes of the progress of the campaign that is being waged by Malcolm G. Jeffris of this city for the nomination of United States senator.
Mr. Jeffris is conducting a clean, state-wide campaign and is receiving the hearty support of many men who have been known to have been leaders of his opponents' campaigns in previous years. His doctrines are those of simple, pure republicanism without any taint of chicanery, fantastic gyrations, misrepresentation, or the tricks of the average politician.
Mr. Jeffris was invited to become a candidate by a committee of a hundred and ten men representing the republicans of every congressional district of the state and is running as a republican candidate for office and is a republican if nominated and elected. No subterfuge about his republicanism—it is the Hughes-Fairbanks-Jeffris variety.

CHURCH AS CATERER.

A visitor from another town, who at home is an active worker in his church, remarked that her labors for that organization had seemed unsatisfying this year. She had been busy all winter with supper and cake and candy sales. Instead of being a propagator of religion, the church seemed to have become a catering agency. Formerly the phrase "church worker," referred to people active in teaching Sunday school classes, or conducting missionary meetings. Now it was likely to mean one who set up suppers.

These suppers would be served for anywhere from 20 to 35 cents, and half the material, contributed by members of the parish, would be left over. Total receipts must have been less than the value of the material given. Also the labor of the workers counted for nothing.

It was not merely the regular church functions, The Boy Scouts and the Christian Endeavor society, etc., etc., all had to have their sales. About every week she was called on to make cake or candy.

Nominally a ready cash profit is made that could not be collected by subscription. The men are willing to see their kitchens raided for fifty cents worth of material, when they would not live the twenty-five cents outright. So the funds are raised by subterfuge and an uneconomic method.

It is the one excuse for this dubious method of financing, that it promotes friendly social life. A woman gets better acquainted in cooking one supper than she would in months of stiff and formal calls. But while the churches that have not gone much into this form of life may be condemned as unsocial, they may be doing more for the ends for which the church primarily was founded.

THE RAILROADS.

The railroad believe that if the Interstate Commerce Commission has the right to regulate what they shall charge for hauling freight or passengers and what their profits shall be, they should also act as mediators in the event of the possible strike. It is a perfectly right assumption and one which deserves consideration, by both the members of the commerce commission and also by the leaders of the railroad employees who seek to better their personal conditions by demands for increased pay and shorter hours. If there is any real possibility of a strike it should be settled by arbitration and not by a strike.
Strikes cost both the workers and the railroads money and the public pays the toll, no matter how the final result is adjusted. Really, the public are the goats all the way through, when you come right down to it. This commerce idea is a good one and should be developed.

TROOPS MOVING.

It would appear as though the days of watchful waiting were about over.
If the democratic administration had shown half the activity three years ago in the Mexican administration that they are now displaying the need for the presence of the militia regiments of the various states on the Mexican border would not have been needed. As it is the condition of the troops as regards munitions of war policy of the administration in following the propaganda of peace with a nation that does not understand what the letters p-o-a-e stand for.

No one has taken any steps to prevent the internal revenue collector with any testimonial, but a number of leading citizens have been asked to make contributions to him during the present month.

It used to seem so useless when you did arithmetic examples with those big numerals like quintillions and vigintillions, but they will come

RUSSIA'S STATE OFFICIALS SAT-

PROHIBITION HAS BROUGHT.
RUSSIA HAS REFORMED

Drunken Persons a Novelty in Czar's Nation at the Present Time.—People More Prosperous.
[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Petrograd, June 29.—After a year and a half of prohibition Russia may be said to have successfully subdued the liquor traffic. The sale of intoxicants since Emperor Nicholas put his signature to the ukase forbidding the traffic, at the very first of the war, has fallen from nearly a billion rubles ($500,000,000) yearly to approximately 4 per cent of that sum. The 4 per cent largely consists of the sale of liquors for medicinal purposes, although in it is included also a limited traffic in wines for which there is a restricted permission in certain parts of the empire.

Vodka, formerly the most easily obtainable commodity in Russia, has become as rare as whisky in the most strictly prohibition community in the United States. Vines are still to be had, but they are very scarce and not but also in some cases and under prescribed conditions, with the knowledge of the authorities, but at prices which limit their sale to people of wealth or worldly extravagance. It is possible in Petrograd and Moscow, for instance, where the ban, even on wines, is strict, to purchase wines in certain hotels, but they may be served only in private dining rooms, and the privileges enjoyed by these institutions are frequently interrupted by the police for some infraction of the restrictive rules.

No Drunken Persons.
One of the most noticeable results of the almost complete suppression of vodka naturally is the disappearance from the streets and other public places of intoxicated persons. They have become so rare as to be more of a novelty. People observe such a spirit of curious surprise, doubting the impulse among the majority of the population for having been being so long in the habit of drinking. This state of affairs offers a remarkable contrast to the ante-bellum condition when drunkenness among the lower classes was a very serious social problem. It is well established fact that each one of the sixty odd holidays, irrespective of Sundays, when business houses and factories were closed, were used to mean a crippling of business activity on the following day and often for two succeeding days because of the spree which attended the holiday celebrations. It is said the drinking to the workmen in this respect alone runs into prodigious figures. In one factory in the Tula government, employing 3,000 men, there were 600 lost working days in three months in 1914. For the same months in 1915 these were reduced to 48.

The earning capacity of the people and the cost of living, with the advance in the cost of living, with the result that savings deposits, have mounted up to an almost unbelievable figure. The peasant is living better than he ever did before, and is acquiring a self-respect which he never possessed in the old days of vodka diminution.

People Happier.
Among the benefits observed by an independent investigator, A. I. Farevov, who recently traveled through a number of the central governments, are:
A decrease in the number of cases of domestic rowdyism; lighter and more hopeful spirit among the people; a decrease in arrears of taxes; fields better tilled and a growing demand for agricultural machinery; a decrease in alcoholism in the charity hospitals and other institutions, and a decrease in crimes and in the number of beggars. According to this investigation the peasant, instead of feeling that he has suffered an injury by the abolition of vodka, is grateful having had a temptation removed which he knew himself was powerless to resist.
The error is reversed by the fact that as "Nicholas the Temperate," a peasant is quoted as saying: "We have now one common enemy—the German; formerly every man was his own enemy." A director of a glass factory in Moscow said that fifty years more of drunkenness would have lost the Russian people all capacity for resistance and the nation would have fallen on an easy prey to Germany.

A typical example of the reconstruction in progress is to be found among the Cossacks, a large population in eastern Siberia. The Cossacks, who are of Tomsk and Tobolsk, whose chief industry is trapping and fishing. Formerly they fell easy prey to traders who lured them with vodka and drove sharp bargains for their produce.
Many branches of this people were gradually becoming extinct from excessive use of alcohol. Today they are said to be completely reformed.
Instead of easy victims they are becoming clever bargainers themselves who know how to get full value for their furs and fish.

That drunkenness still exists and that many substitutes for vodka are employed, cannot be denied. By comparison, however, the evasions of the prohibition decree are negligible.
Coloreds, comedies and even varieties are substituted to processes whereby the alcohol in their composition is extracted for consumption; but the extent of this practice is barely comparable with the "blind pig" and drug store abuses practices in American prohibition communities. Illicit manufacturers are constantly hounded by the police so that the practice has failed to assume any proportions.

Continue Prohibition.
The vacuum left in the lives of former vodka consumers is gradually being filled through the establishment in towns and rural districts of "narodny doma" (people's houses) where sterilization and moving picture productions are becoming popular forms of amusement. Lecturers are also being sent out by associations which are working for the betterment of the people. The duma has voted 1,000,000 rubles ($500,000) to promote temperance work by city councils, the church and other organizations.

There is much speculation as to whether the prohibition now in effect will be continued after the war. P.
L. Barf, minister of finance, whose department of the government was most seriously affected by the stoppage of revenue formerly derived from the sale of vodka, has definitely expressed himself in the affirmative. In a declaration in behalf of the government which he made recently to critics of the government's policies, he said: "I find it important to categorically announce that all suspicious that the government intends to renew the sale of vodka are unfounded. I categorically announce that the government will support prohibition and that there will be no return to the former state of affairs. I can state with authority that the sale of vodka will be prohibited forever."

A measure is at present under consideration in the duma to make the vodka prohibition perpetual.

Great Poets.
There have, of course, been many fine poets, writers of beautiful sentiments in beautiful numbers; but the supremely great poets may be counted on the fingers of the two hands. England and Scotland lead the world in great poets, having, perhaps, a half dozen, while the other countries can show hardly more than one each, and some of them not even one.

Husband and Wife.
A husband and wife have no business to tell one another's faults anybody but to one another. They cannot do it without shame. Their grievances are to be settled in private, between themselves; and in all public places, and among friends, they are to preserve towards one another that nice consideration and entire respect-fulness which their relation enjoins.
For they are one in the law; and for a man or woman to publish the truth that they are not in fact, is to acknowledge that they are living in the relation of an unwilling lover and a compulsory mistress.—Josiah Gilbert

BAN PLAYER PIANOS IN CITY'S SALOONS

CHIEF'S INTENTION

Champion to Issue Order Shortly for Elimination of Music at Places Where Liquor Is Sold.

Chief of Police P. D. Champion announced this morning that all saloon owners would be notified that an order would be issued within short time, requiring that pianos or mechanical musical instruments be prohibited from places holding a license to sell intoxicating liquor. The official order has not been drawn as yet, as the chief prefers to warn the saloon men that such a step would be taken, to allow them sufficient time to dispose of their property without a decided financial loss.

An investigation of more than a month's duration has been made by Champion, and for three or four years the department has been considering such an action to prohibit music in the saloons. All that is necessary to effect the change is an order from the chief of police, as he is vested with powers to regulate the saloons, with only the fire and police commission to "over-ride" his orders. Twenty-six saloon owners have pianos or musical instruments in their places of business, and it is probable that such instruments will have to be disposed of inside of a month's time, perhaps less. The chief was unable to state just what the proposed order would be made effective, but he desired to confer with the license holders to determine what was a reasonable time limit with them.

"The pianos and playing instruments are the cause of the majority of the trouble experienced by this department with the saloons. When one of these highly tuned player pianos starts, the saloon men generally are affected in a rather disagreeable manner by the music. Nearly all of the carousing, wild dancing and hooting, singing, howling and shouting is directly due to the music. There are several saloons here that one cannot pass without hearing weird music being poured out, and most of the time it is so loud that they can be heard at a distance of two blocks. The dancing is another detrimental feature that can be attributed to the player pianos, which will be eliminated when the machines are prohibited," explained Chief of Police Champion when asked for the object of the proposed order.

On Wednesday the chief held a conference with Mayor Fathers on the question and although no order was given by the mayor for the action, it was his approval. He said that he thought there will be serious objections to the reform from the saloon owners. Three owners, who were told of the proposed action, indignantly stated that it was a "good" thing.

"Except for the possible financial loss, the other two saw no reasons for the enforcement of the proposed order. All of these saloon men agreed that if they could obtain a satisfactory amount for their pianos they would be ready to have them out at an early date," said the chief.

It is supposed that the question will come before the association that was formed by the liquor dealers recently, and a united action taken by them. On what Chief of Police Champion stated this morning, there would be no backing down on the execution of the order.

One saloon keeper was "called on" by Chief of Police Champion. It was alleged he had been warned to enter his bar-room Tuesday and the report was received that the woman was sold intoxicating liquor. The saloon keeper was not present when the chief called, and the woman who was arrested, as the woman who is alleged to have obtained the liquor, resides in Monroe, and could not be located.

EXPECT TO COMPLETE PETITION TOMORROW

Still Lack a Few Names to Insure a Company in Wisconsin National Guard for anniversary.

A few more names have been signed to the petition for a national guard company for Jamesville, but the list is still short of the required number. Efforts are being made to secure the full quota by tomorrow night so that representations can be made to Governor Philipp by Mayor Fathers tomorrow afternoon. The names of the men who are being sought are being circulated, and it was reported that it was expected the total number of names secured would be over fifty after the day after tomorrow. There are a number of young fellows who are ready to join in the movement if they could be seen, but who are backward about coming forward of their own initiative, and who know of such men should use their influence to have them sign the petitions.

MISS DOROTHY WILCOX
WEDS ROY BERT DEAN

Pretty Wedding Takes Place Last Night at Wilcox Residence on Sinclair Street.

Miss Dorothy Lucia Wilcox, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Lee Wilcox of Sinclair street, and Roy Bert Dean of Avon, were united in marriage Wednesday evening, June 28th, at eight o'clock at the home of the bride. The Rev. George Edwin Parke of the Presbyterian church read the marriage vows, and the ceremony was being used. The bride couple were unattended. As they took their places in the living room, under a canopy of white daisies and ferns, the ribbons were stretched by Miss Helen Wilcox and Florence Hunt. Joan Buchholz was the flower girl. The Lohengrin wedding march was played by the Hotel orchestra, accompanied by Miss Helen Coon of Edgerton. Before the ceremony Miss Coon sang "Because," by D. Hardelo. The bride was gown in white tulle and tulle, and carried a bouquet of white roses and lilies of the valley. The home was beautifully decorated with masses of pink roses, white daisies and similar in profusion. After the ceremony a buffet luncheon was served to about seventy-five guests. The bride of last evening has always lived in Jamesville and has many warm friends. She is a graduate of the Jamesville high school and of the Milwaukee normal kindergarten, and has been attending the normal schools at Edgerton for the past three years. Mr. Dean is a rising young business man and is engaged in the lumbering business with his father in Avon. The bride's father is a well known wedding ring and will be at home to their friends in Avon, July 15th.

The out-of-town guests were: Mr. and Mrs. Roy Dean, Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Wanamaker, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Farman, Mr. and Mrs. P. O. Holt, Mesdames Pierce and Root, and Miss Edgerton. Also present were the first troop train since the Spanish-American war within a few days. Possibly this will be on Saturday. It is said that the first train will pass through here on the morning, and that the railroad has laid its plans for their first movement.

How authentic the report is that the first troops will pass through here Saturday is not known. It was announced yesterday, however, that the troop train routing had been changed from Milwaukee to via Madison. It is possible also that the first troop train will not be feasible for Jamesville shippers to route freight east on any of the roads mentioned. Asked how long the embargo would be in force, Mr. Zimmerman remarked: "Until Uncle Sam is clear down to the border with his soldiers."

Talk among Northwestern railway men here seems to indicate that the embargo will be lifted for the first troop train since the Spanish-American war within a few days. FREIGHT EMBARGO ON EASTERN LINES AS TROOPS ENTRAIN

Jamesville Agents Given Orders to Accept No More Freight for Points in Eastern States.

Railway officials of both steam lines running into Jamesville this morning received notice of the establishment of an embargo on back freight shipments routed on eastern railroads for eastern points. The order was effective at midnight last night. It is due to freight congestion consequent on preparation to troop trains moving, the national guard regiments to eastern states to the Mexican border.

Only livestock and perishable freight come within the restrictions and will be accepted for shipment east. All points on the Chicago & Erie, the New York, New Haven & Hartford and the Delaware & Hudson, are included.

Here is the order: "Embargo effective at midnight, June 27, on all freight traffic excepting livestock and perishable routing via C. & E. N. Y. N. H. & H. and D. & H. roads.

"This supercedes all restrictions via that gateway and is made necessary by the necessity of clearing up freight traffic for that routing due to heavy troop movement."

Attention of railroad officials of cities and towns over the entire system of the Chicago & Milwaukee & Paul railway and over the entire Chicago & Northwestern road was called to the order. Railroad men here said that the same embargo to their lines had been acted upon by the first troop train moving west. Uncle Sam is moving his soldiers, and when such a case happens everything else gets in the way and stops until they are moved.

Agents Fred Zimmerman of the Milwaukee road and Alva Hemmens of the Northwestern this afternoon called the attention of Jamesville shippers to the order. Expectations are that when the Wisconsin and other nearby state militia starts south Jamesville and vicinity will be similarly affected. Under the present order it will not be feasible for Jamesville shippers to route freight east on any of the roads mentioned. Asked how long the embargo would be in force, Mr. Zimmerman remarked: "Until Uncle Sam is clear down to the border with his soldiers."

Possibly this will be on Saturday. It is said that the first train will pass through here on the morning, and that the railroad has laid its plans for their first movement.

How authentic the report is that the first troops will pass through here Saturday is not known. It was announced yesterday, however, that the troop train routing had been changed from Milwaukee to via Madison. It is possible also that the first troop train will not be feasible for Jamesville shippers to route freight east on any of the roads mentioned. Asked how long the embargo would be in force, Mr. Zimmerman remarked: "Until Uncle Sam is clear down to the border with his soldiers."

Talk among Northwestern railway men here seems to indicate that the embargo will be lifted for the first troop train since the Spanish-American war within a few days. Possibly this will be on Saturday. It is said that the first train will pass through here on the morning, and that the railroad has laid its plans for their first movement.

WHITEWATER 'WETS' WIN COURT FIGHT; LICENSES GRANTED

Judge Belden Decides That License Forces Won Election Contest in April.—Twelve Saloons Continue.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE]

Whitewater, Wis., June 29.—The wet won their fight for liquor license in the city of Whitewater. The vote was finally determined as being in their favor by a majority of 430.

Thus ends about as bitter a fight as ever followed an election in the state of Wisconsin. The issue as to whether licenses should be granted was presented to the voter of the city of Whitewater April 4, last. Upon the evidence presented to the common council it appeared that no license had been carried by a majority of one, and it was so declared. Ed. Schneider, proprietor of the White-water House, which has a bar in connection was not satisfied with this. He retained Thos. S. Nolan of Janesville, who made an investigation, and soon thereafter filed a petition for Mr. Schneider asking for an alternative writ of mandamus to compel the common council to rescind the returns of election. This was granted. The city of Whitewater and the common council were made defendants in this proceeding. The dry element retained Whitehead & Matheson of Janesville. The city was represented by Easton Johnson, city attorney.

The defendants moved to quash or dismiss the alternative writ on the ground that even though the election should be irregular, and the returns not made, there was no remedy. The attorney for the defendants contended that there was no proceeding or action by which the common council could be compelled to rescind the vote or review its action. The attorney for the petitioner admitted that there was no statutory remedy, but the common law provided a way. Judge Belden decided and granted a peremptory writ of mandamus, directing the common council to rescind the returns of the local option election and report to him.

The defendants petitioned for a view of the alleged defective and challenged ballots. This was granted, but the inspection was ordered to take place in the circuit court for Walworth county the 27th instant. The mayor and common council were ordered to be present. It was then ascertained that the inspectors had not made returns or statements of the election or of the defective and challenged ballots as provided by law. On motion of Mr. Nolan the inspectors of election were ordered to attend court the next day and make proper returns. This they did. Yesterday afternoon, following the statements prepared and filed by the inspectors, the mayor and common council met in Whitewater and in the circuit court and rescinded the returns or statements made by the inspectors of election. They counted one vote for license which had been rejected by the inspectors, and rejected the challenged vote, which was against license, thus changing the result. They so reported to the court.

Last evening the common council held their regular meeting in Whitewater, and declared the same result. Following this they granted twelve licenses for the sale of intoxicating liquors for the ensuing year. The challenged vote mentioned was cast by one Morris Steele, whose answers to the station questions put to him indicated that he was not a resident of the state of Wisconsin. Judge Belden's action in compelling proper and legal returns and statements of the common council to give the voters of the facts, is generally commended.

HOMER HONOR SYSTEM SUCCEEDS AT COMSTOCK

Albany, N. Y., June 29.—While the welfare league of Sing Sing is being much discussed today, the Homer Honor System at the Great Meadow prison in Comstock is going on quietly accomplishing its reward in a host of reformed men.

William J. Homer, warden at Great Meadow and his wife, known by prisoners as "Our Lady of Comstock," are meeting with success because they know human nature and its needs.

"No man can be bettered in prison if his mind is ill at ease because he fears for his relatives outside," says Warden Homer today.

"Therefore, the first thing that is done when a man enters Great Meadow is to care for his family, see that he is protected and that the innocent will not suffer outside the prison walls while the guilty suffer within."

"The normal man is made out of the abnormal criminal by ethical, educational, physical and spiritual methods at Great Meadow."

"If a man is physically defective he can not reform until his weakness has been obviated."

Therefore Warden Homer deals with each man as an individual. One man may need to be placed where he can live in close touch with nature, so he is given work on the prison farm, while another man may be obsessed with a desire for knowledge, he is placed at work in the prison library, or is given some sort of clerical work that will help him meet his desires.

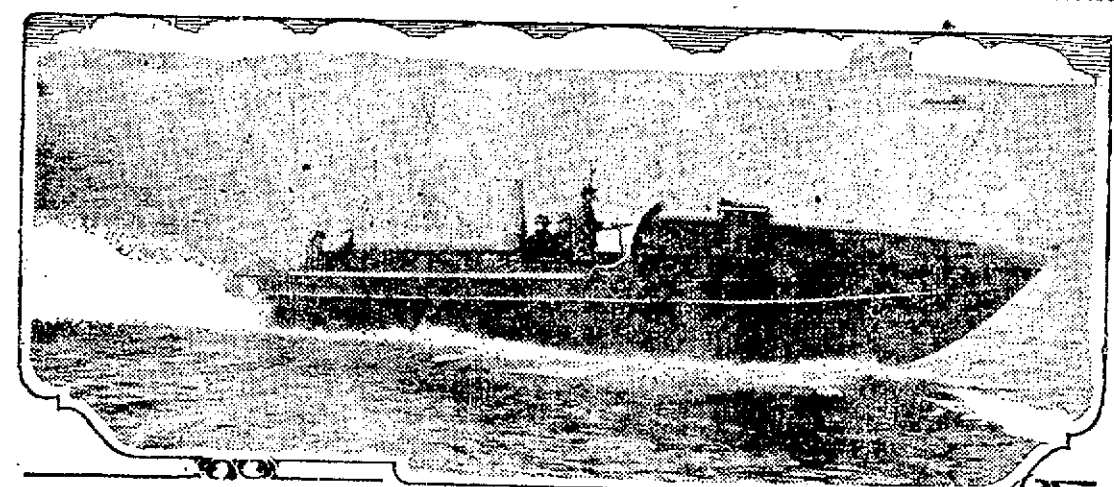

Common sense, love and charity are combined at Great Meadow, and that is why 100 per cent of its inmates are making parole, and 97 1/2 per cent of its graduates are making good.

Jeannette Kling to Read "Across the Border"

MISS KLING, one of the most successful of all Chautauqua and Lyceum readers, comes among the Chautauquas this summer with a new play, "Across the Border," by Benah Marie Dr. This is one of the recent successful peace plays and was originally produced by Holbrook Blinn at the Princess theater, New York. It is a play of absorbing interest. Its treatment is strongly metaphysical. In this particular realm Jeannette Kling is specially gifted. Her voice is a perfect instrument and of that rarely beautiful quality which comes only from experienced right usage in excellent material. Miss Kling is a handsome woman and a splendid artist, and only such a superb technique as hers would be adequate to interpret the spiritual might and intensity of this play.

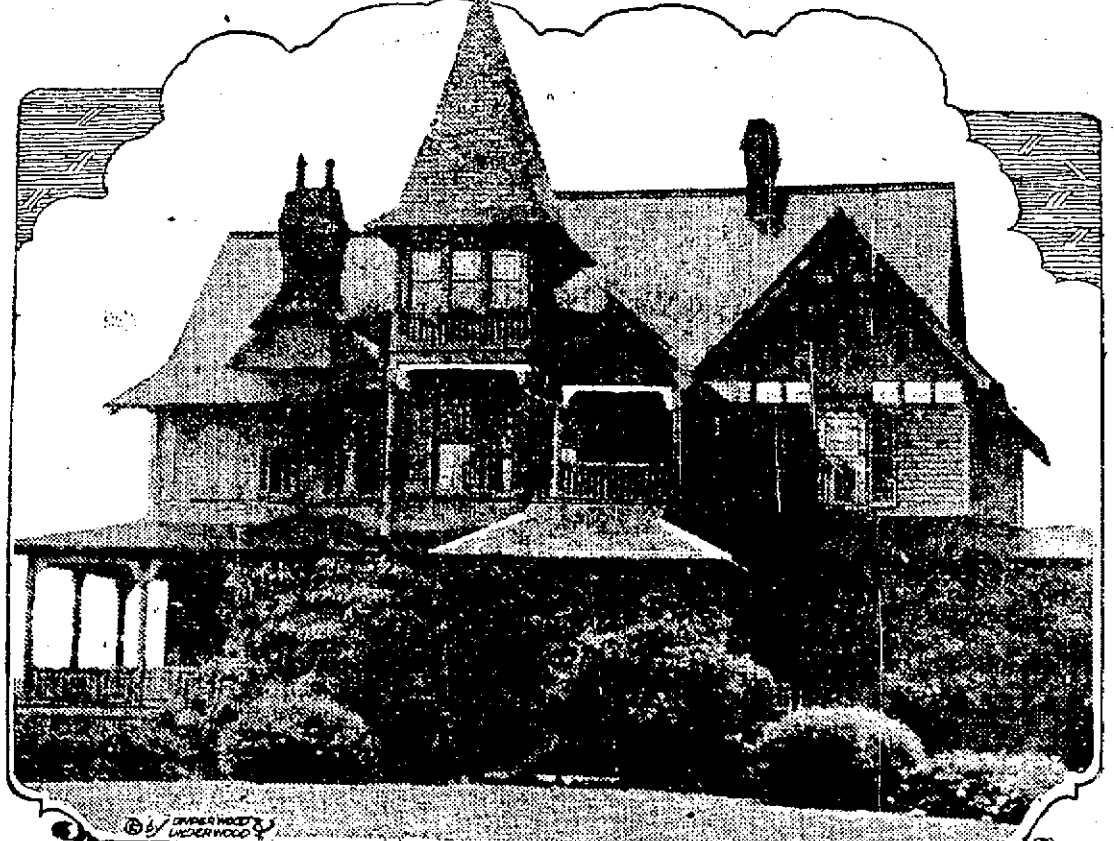

Miss Kling has not only distinguished herself as an artist of extraordinary ability, but stands high in the councils of the Lyceum and Chautauqua. She has been a prominent figure in Lyceum and Chautauqua affairs for some years. She has often served on important committees in the International Lyceum Association, and her opinion on affairs of the Lyceum and Chautauqua is widely sought by less experienced artists. She will be here on the third day of the Chautauqua.

STALE WORDS PLEASE SOME

Many Writers Seem to Take Great Delight in Using Threadbare Phrases at Every Opportunity.

There is a style of mind which cannot express itself except in stale and threadbare words and phrases, remarks a writer in the Knickerbocker Press. The more ancient and outworn the language, the better it pleases such folk. To them all brides are blushing, all banknotes crisp, all citizens prominent. To them the by-and-by is ever sweet, their tomes are musty, their decorations tasty and every fire is a conflagration if not a holocaust. J. Pluvius makes rain for them, their sun is Old Sol, their future dim and distant and their tomb silent. "Bids fair" makes them chortle in glee. They are best pleased, too, when they can clap quotation marks around a word or phrase, to set it off with the unction that makes a born gossip's infections a torture to many ears.

Bromides was the name Golett Burgess gave to these unhappy fragments of language, overworked until their savor has gone from them. But Burgess' clever notion has become itself a bromide, since the bromide have taken it up and made a bromidiom of it.

Barrie, in the days when his style was forming, dreaded this failing. Artistic sensibilities as keen as his shrank from the trite. In his room he kept only a few books. One of them was Bartlett's "Quotations." When, in his writing, a phrase or line came tripping off his pen that seemed to him to have been said or heard before, he turned to Bartlett. If he found it listed there, among the "familiar," out it went. He was a writer.

WALKING FERN GROWS HERE

Is Native of the United States and Is Found as Far West as State of Kansas.

The walking fern, some specimens of which have been installed at the Children's Museum of the Brooklyn Institute, is a native of the United States. It is found in certain localities of the eastern states and westward to Kansas, usually growing on moss-covered rocks, or near the bases of cliffs. Because of its peculiar manner of growth, it has been given Latin names meaning "fruit-dor" and "rooting leaf." writes Miss M. S. Draper in the Children's Museum News.

The fronds, when fully developed, are from six to twelve or fifteen inches long, their tips reaching down into the moss or crevices of the rocks, where they develop young plants of two or three tiny fronds. At a later stage, a mass of fine rootlets forms and holds the little rosette in position. After several months, the long frond to which the little plant is attached becomes withered, and the young fern sends out fronds which produce new plants. It is said that in a few years a single plant under favorable conditions will develop into a whole colony.

NEWS NOTES from MOVIELAND

"The Velvet Paw" is the title of a photoplay which has recently been completed and in which Gail Kane, famous star of the stage and screen, has the leading feminine role. This picture, in which House Peters is co-starred with Miss Kane, will be released within a few weeks.

Miss Kane is a native of Philadelphia. She went to boarding school in Newburgh, N. Y., and through amateur theatricals in school she got the stage fever. Then one day she was offered a small part in Charles Frohman's "Decorating Clementine," and eagerly grabbed at the chance. Her next engagements were with Marie Tempest in "Vanity Fair" and in Augustus Thomas' "As a Man Thinks." Her first leading part was with Chouin in "The Model." Then came leading parts in "Anatol," "Seven Keys to Baldpate," "The Miracle Man," and "The Hypnotist."

Miss Kane has adopted New York as her home and spends her summers at Long Beach. Horses, dogs and swimming represent her only hobbies.

YOUTH WINS IN LATEST PICTURE

"The Old Man Who Tried to Grow Young" is the title of a picture now in production. Al W. Filson appears in the featured part of the photoplay, an elderly man in which who desires a young wife taken by Vivian Reid. In his search for youth he comes upon a Hindu fairy which sells him a formula which will rejuvenate him. This, however, proves to be but a poor hair dye. He discovers the girl he wishes to wed is in love with his secretary, and he finds ways and means of putting the young man out of the way. But affairs are eventually righted, and the young people come into their own, which points out the mockery of the old man in attempting to regain youth. Charles West and Harry Lonsdale appear in good parts in the photoplay.

Lenore Ulrich, who won fame on the stage as a Hawaiian girl, has appeared in pictures as a pygmy and a Mexican. She's to be an Indian maid in the new play she is making. She was an Indian in her recent stage success, "The Heart of Wotona."

"Sudden Riches" Tonight. The latest World Film production, "Sudden Riches," will be the feature show at the Apollo theatre tonight. This will show one of the very few real three star pictures ever released, for Robert Warwick, Clara Kimbrell and Gerda Holmes all have prominent parts in it, and the three give one of the most finished performances ever shown on the screen before.

The story of "Sudden Riches" is based around a fortune given by an uncle to his nephew in hopes of ruining him. What effect the money had makes a very interesting play.

"Kennedy Square" Tonight. "Kennedy Square," the appealing Southern drama from the pen of F. Hopkinson Smith, celebrated author, will be presented at the Beverly tonight. Antonio Moreno and Chas. Kent as Harry Rutter and St. George Temple, respectively, give perfect interpretation to their sympathetic roles, supported by an excellent Vitagraph cast, while the settings and photography are strikingly beautiful. The story, while simple, provides a powerful vehicle for the leading characters. St. George Temple, a typical aristocratic old Southerner, befriends Harry Rutter, a hot-headed young man, helps him out of many troubles, and when the lad is disowned by his father for fighting with a guest over his sweetheart, he takes him into his own home—"Kennedy Square"—and becomes a second father to him.

FARRAR ANIMATED IN "MARIA ROSA"

Pama Donn's Characterization of Role

"Maria Rosa," the third Geraldine Farrar production, which was shown at the Apollo yesterday, is a photoplay achievement that has living qualities in it. So attractive, and so unusual in technique, it is the kind of picture that will stand the passage of time.

The story is a melodrama of the most melodramatic kind, but it is told so that the interest is merely on the players, the plot being a secondary point in providing them action. Pulsing life, hot love, and stinging hate, picturesquely set into the present Spanish community, engage a coterie of vivid players in fiery delineation.

Geraldine Farrar is again the vital thing she was in "Carmen," though not being heartless, she is more human and so more sympathy winning.

OKLAHOMA GUARDSMEN ARRESTED FOR REFUSING TO TAKE OATH REQUIRED

Fort Sill, Okla., June 29.—Three members of the Oklahoma national guard, a sergeant and two privates, are under arrest for refusing to take the oath required when their commands were mustered into federal service. Four members of regimental infantry also refused to take the oath at the preliminary roll call.

They were not arrested, but will be, it is said, if they refuse to take the oath when the infantry is paraded for mustering. The three under arrest probably will be court-martialed. The guard is 500 men short of full war strength.

Household Hints

Two cups granulated sugar, two-thirds cup butter, one cup sweet milk, three teaspoons baking powder, sifted in 2 1/2 cups of flour, whites of four eggs beaten before putting in. This makes a large cake. A boiled icing can be made and, when cold, take colored pink or red sugar and sprinkle in the center of the cake the number of years the person the cake is for. Arrange small cake candles around edge of cake.

In making a birthday cake, use a large round granite pan. Place a buttered tumbler in center and pour batter in around tumbler. The cake cooks perfectly without falling and the glass is easily removed, leaving a large hole in the center. The glass can be left in and filled with candy or flowers as a pleasant surprise. A great many people find it difficult to wrap up a cake that has a soft frosting without having the frosting stick to the paper. If you stick a few toothpicks into the cake, then wrap it up you will find that the toothpicks keep up the paper very nicely.

BRAIDED RUGS

Cut rugs so, when bunched up, you have strand about as thick as your little finger. If you wish smaller strands, make smaller braid, but it will take longer to sew.

Fasten three strands together and braid. Sew edges together with an over-and-over stitch.

Rugs can be sewed in several different shapes. As you sew the round ones you will have to continue to hold the braid a little full. Hold full only at the ends in oval-shaped ones.

THINGS WORTH KNOWING.

Old stains may be removed from linen as follows: Tie up some cream of tartar in the stained part and let it boil in soap suds for a few minutes; then wash and rinse in clear water and the stain will be gone.

Vinegar and salt will remove clear from inside of teakettle; also, will clean aluminum cooking utensils, leaving it bright and clean without injury to the metal.

A small brush kept near sink is fine for cleaning baking board, rolling pin, graters, etc. Use salt instead of soap for bread board.

To get suit or dress, use a velvet or plush box, such as a watch or any piece of jewelry was packed in; it makes an ideal brush, for it will not cut the silk.

To save cleaning and scalding garbage can each week, wrap each sink-strainerful of garbage in paper before putting it into the can. Wrapping not only saves cleaning, but prevents unpleasant odors. It will lighten the labor of the garbage man; improve sanitary conditions about the home; keep away flies, and double or treble the life of your garbage can.

THE TABLE

Egg Vermicelli—Boil three eggs very hard; shell and separate; cut whites fine and add to one cup white sauce. Salt and pepper. Lay six slices round on platter; pour over sauce. Put yolks in colander and press through over toast.

Peach Shortcake—Cut one can peach fine with baking powder and add sugar to make rather a thick syrup. Let stand two hours or more, stir once in a while. Make rich custard, dough, bake split and put between and on top. Beat white of an egg until stiff and dry, add a little sugar and pour over boiling water. Lift egg from water and pile on each section.

Cocunut Puffs—One egg, half cup sugar, one tablespoon melted butter, half teaspoon salt, one-fourth cup flour, three-fourths cup rolled oats, one-third cup shredded coconut, one-fourth teaspoon vanilla. Beat eggs, add sugar, then butter and salt, then flour, rolled oats, coconut and vanilla. As you add the ingredients stir briskly. Drop by teaspoonful on buttered baking sheet; bake in moderate oven. This recipe will make about twenty-five puffs. They are fine for lunches or parties.

Salmon Cutlets—Flage a can of salmon into bits. Fry a slice of onion in a tablespoonful of butter, then remove onion and rub in tablespoon of flour. Add slowly milk and stir until smooth; then beat in the salmon, season with chopped parsley, pepper and salt. Take mixture from fire and add beaten yolks of two eggs. Put on ice until quite stiff, then mold into cutlets. Dip cutlets into crushed cracker crumbs, into egg and again into cracker crumbs, and fry in hot fat until golden brown. This will serve five.

Chocolate "Brownies" for the Children—Put one cup sugar in mixing bowl, beat into it one-fourth cup melted butter, then add two eggs and beat thoroughly, then add two squares chocolate (melted over hot water), three-fourths teaspoon vanilla, half cup flour, half cup walnut meats broken in pieces. Bake in the order named. Spread mixture evenly in tins about seven inches square lined with buttered paper. Bake about half hour. Turn out from the pan and at once remove the paper and cut into oblong pieces.

A GOOD CITIZEN

Classifying the people of one's acquaintance is always a favorite diversion.

"People who like olives and people who don't," is one quoted by Gellert Burgess.

"People who like Charles Lamb and Barrie and people who don't," is my favorite.

A friend of mine advanced an interesting one the other day:

"There are just two classes of people in the world," she said, "people who are courteous enough to answer invitations to subscription affairs, and people who are not."

A Hall Mark of Breeding

It is a hall mark of breeding, isn't it, to attend these bothersome little matters? There are some things that etiquette absolutely requires that we do not do.

No one but an utter boor would think of ignoring a personal and private invitation. Above and beyond these rigid obligations are the amenities of good breeding.

The finest lady (in its best sense) that I know is absolutely punctilious about these things. She has many interests and her mail is full of appreciation letters for her subscription dance.

And she never fails to attend to one of them. She courteously refuses the invitation to her subscription dance, but she conscientiously records her vote for the college trustee, she indicates her hope of being present at the concert.

And she answers them the day they arrive.

And most wonderful of all, she does it with a smile.

Divorces in Canada.

Canada's divorce court is never entered except by members of the wealthy class—and not frequently by them. Only four to six divorces are granted in Canada annually. There is no record of a poor man ever getting a divorce in the Dominion, it is said. The average cost of a divorce in Canada is $2,000 and the decree is granted for only one offense—marital infidelity. The legislature at Ottawa appoints a divorce committee each session and all cases are settled by this committee. There is no appeal to a divorce action. Those living in the western part of the Dominion have to pay much more for a decree than those living in the east because of the heavier traveling expenses.

Why She Objected.

"I hear that Florrie has broken off her engagement with you, old chap," said one man to another.

"Yes," replied the second.

"I say, I'm awfully sorry to hear it. Whatever did she do to it?"

"Just because I stole a kiss," said the disconsolate one, sadly.

"Great Scott!" exclaimed his friend. "Surely she must be crazy if she objects to her fiancé stealing a kiss from her."

The abandoned one sighed deeply. "But that's just the trouble," he said. "I didn't steal it from her."

The Antidote.

Hulda's mistress often boasts of her readiness of resource.

"She's the best nursemaid in the world," is the enthusiastic commendation from her employer. "One day I returned from a motor trip through the park to be met with the startling news that the baby had swallowed a button."

"And what did you do, Hulda?" I asked, in some anxiety, although trusting that it had been the right thing.

"Why," said Hulda, "I made him swallow a buttonhole right away."

By Compulsion.

"Do you think you will go away for the summer?"

"Yes," replied the meek-looking man. "I expect to be perfectly miserable and spend a great deal more money than I can afford to spend, but I happen to have two marriageable daughters and a strong-minded wife, so I think I will go away for the summer."

sists he will never hang. Governor Dunne insists he never will commute Scott's sentence to life, as the crime was "too revolting to be explained by anything but death."

Governor Dunne is especially antagonistic to capital punishment and might see Scott alive when his term expires next March.

WOOTON WILL PITCH AGAINST "FAIRIES"

Two New Outfielders and Lou Flene Will Be Secured to Meet the Beloit Nine Sunday.

With two new hard hitting outfielders, and Lou Flene, former White Sox and Milwaukee Association pitcher, in reserve, and with Jack Wooton pitching, the Cardinals hope to be able to take the first game from the Beloit Fairbanks-Morse team, which will be played here Sunday afternoon. Manager Caldwell expressed satisfaction at the playing of the Cardinal infield in the two close games at Madison, and had the Janesville crew had fielders who could hit, they would have won both games easily.

Joe Nelson will play first, Blake second, Moss short, and Beck, third. Moss showedup great at Madison, not making an error and playing a very speedy game. He can cover lots of ground, has a fast and accurate whip and is a good hitter. Pech has been playing great ball in his games here and is not far behind Jack Britton, Beloit's third sacker. Wooton pitched an elegant game at Madison, and only mistakes the outfield lost him the game. Against his old team-mates Wooton will pitch his best ball, for he is anxious to beat the Fairies. He is considered a better pitcher than Lafferty or the other who play baseball, even if Beloit is ready to give Sam Lafferty, and his grease ball, the whole town, if he beats Janesville.

YANKEES TAKE LEAD AS CLEVELAND LOSES

Cubs and Pirates Play Eighteen Inning Game in Contest of Double Header.

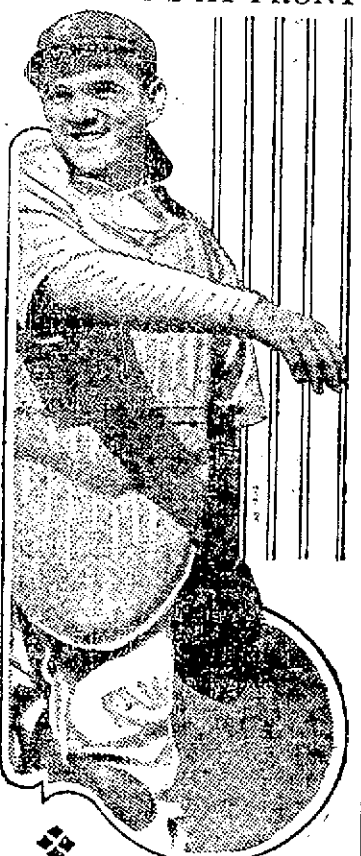

Notable incidents figured in the major leagues yesterday. The New York Yankees went into the lead, showing Cleveland down a peg, and now the Cleveland hopes for a pennant become fewer. The Cubs played three games with the Pittsburgh Pirates at Chicago, in one afternoon, one a nine inning contest and the other an eighteen inning combat, and the Cubs lost both games by the same score, 3 to 2.

The Pirates obtained full revenge for the double trimming the Cubs gave them on Tuesday, and the two teams broke the season's record for an extra inning game. McConnell pitched a deserving game in the overtime combat, when he hurled seventeen innings with a stop. After Art Wilson broke up the game with a home run, Hendrix finished the game. Zwilling, Carey and Wilson made four late hits in the second game. The Cubs scored one run in the fourth. Carey's homer in the eleventh apparently clinched the game, but successive drives by the Cubs tied up the score. Even Manager Tinker got into the game, as the Cubs were shifted, and showed he still knew how to cover the infield. Miller pitched six innings in the feature game, and Cooper finishing up. The first game was a close battle, with Lavender and Vaughn working against Mameaux. An assisted double play was made by Outfielder Plunk, a very unusual play.

Cleveland was cast into a game when the rampant White Sox put them into second place by winning 12 to 1, and now the Chicago Americans are out three and a half games from the top and going like house on fire. Red Russell, with his south-paw slants, turned the trick, and out of the five hits two were bunched in the fifth for the home tally by Cleveland. Ten safe hits were made by the Sox, who at last appear to be using their bats for what they were intended for. Stanley Coveleski opposed Russell, but the big Pole was rapped and mauled off the slant. Coumbe took the job, and was maligned also. Sportsing offense kept the score down to three and a half games. The Sox, who at last appear to be using their bats for what they were intended for, Stanley Coveleski opposed Russell, but the big Pole was rapped and mauled off the slant. Coumbe took the job, and was maligned also. Sportsing offense kept the score down to three and a half games.

Base stealing played a big part in the game with New York won from Philadelphia, 9 to 7, putting them in first place. The Yankees stole nine bases, and their running, with the hitting of Strunk, clinched the game. Washington defeated Boston, 6 to 2.

O'NEIL HELPS KEEP INDIANS AT FRONT

Steve O'Neil.

Steve O'Neil, Cleveland catcher, has been playing a game this season behind the bat that puts him in the front rank of big league catchers. Steve is a big item in the success of the Indians and is in fact the excellent catcher that is always found on a team that's after a pennant. Most all the managers agree that he's catching the best game of any backstop in the American league.

JOE GEDEON, YANK INFILDER, HAS A COMIC SLIDE; HE'S "BASEBALL FIND"

Joe Gedeon.

Joe Gedeon, the Yanks' new second baseman, is getting a rep in the American league for his remarkable slide. He dives into the base head-first and hooks the bag with one hand, throwing his body as far as possible from the waiting baseman. Occasionally to fool him Gedeon will come into the base in the standard manner. Gedeon's brilliant fielding and hitting make him appear to be a new baseball find.

going into a tie with the Red Sox. Walter Johnson held the Red Sox safe after a two run rally early in the game.

Sport Snap Shots

MORRIS MILLER

They have a new umpire in the international league who appears to be getting lots of attention from fans and players all around the circuit. He comes from the Southern association and is reported to have run for Lieutenant governor of Alabama on the Prohibition ticket. His name is Tom Chestnut and from all accounts his manner on the field is exceedingly pleasant. He has gestures and articulations that no other umpire ever thought of. He can make George Arliss or E. H. Southern look like scoundrels when it comes to energetic gesticulations. There's never any doubt about his decisions, because he expresses himself so forcibly both with his voice and all his limbs that by the end of the average game he's pretty well tucked out. And if he ever had to work through a greatly extended inning affair he'd be in an awful state of exhaustion.

Connie Mack in his desperate search for a convincing youngsters, has signed a college boy named Lawry. He comes from the University of Maine and is a shortstop. Monte Cross, one time shortstop for the Phillies and the Athletics, has coached the ball team at Maine and he wants the credit for discovering Lawry. He avows that Lawry is the fastest thing he's seen in many a day and that he should have signed him long ago. The fact is that Lawry is a fast runner, a fast thrower, and a fast hitter. He is a fast ball player. Other youngsters are showing up for Connie's examination most all the time.

Grover Lowdermilk, who looked too wild to keep through the early part of the season, has recently pitched a good ball for the Cleveland Indians and Lee Fohl will hang on to him for a while. Fohl believes that he can make a powerful pitcher out of Lowdermilk if he can teach him control and judgment. It has to be admitted that the tall boy has great speed and stuff.

George Burns is a big hit with the Detroit Tigers as well as he is anywhere. When he returned to the game after an operation last year he appeared to have lost lots of speed and this spring he was taken from the line-up and waivers were asked. Now he has returned, is hitting like a fiend and fielding faultlessly. All through the worst of his slump he kept plugging away because he knew he had the stuff. And he's certainly showing it now.

Eddie Collins of the White Sox is an experienced professional ball player, but his goat can be milked. If you don't believe it, get a swift horse ride past the White Sox second baseman and shout "Billy Sunday" as you go. Because Collins was induced by a clergyman friend recently to address a boys' Sunday school class, the imaginative space writers have been doping him for the sawdust trail and other sensationalism. So now he says that he is "on" news-

MORAN AND DILLON CLASH IN NEW YORK

Hoosier Mankiller Gives Away Thirty Pounds to Meet Moran—Dillon is Made the Favorite.

New York, June 29.—Jack Dillon, Indianapolis, maul killer, and Frank Moran, Pittsburgh "redhead", are all set for their ten-round battle tonight. Dillon took a light workout and Moran will take just enough exercise to keep limbered up before entering the ring.

Dillon, who will give away thirty pounds and five inches in height, has done three times as much work as Moran in the last two weeks. His backers, many of whom arrived from Indianapolis today, are confident that the adage of a "good big man beating a good little one" will have no bearing, because, they say, the big man will not be good enough to scope with the Hoosier whirlwind.

Moran is staying at the Fifth avenue home of a rich Pittsburgher. His light workout today at White Springs, N. Y., was watched by admiring society women and no was afterward crowned with a daisy chain by a laughing little 4 year old girl before leaving for New York.

Dillon will enter the ring weighing about 170 pounds. This is fully thirty pounds less than Moran's regular ring-side weight. In spite of this wagers at the rate of 6 to 5 against Moran are being registered by betters, who believe Dillon's aggressiveness will enable him to win on points, if not more decisively.

The guaranteed purse is $40,000, of which $15,000 goes to Dillon and the remainder to Moran, win, lose, or draw.

MIDDLETON STARS WITH LOUISVILLE

Jimmy Middleton.

Jimmy Middleton, pitching for the Louisville Colonels in the A. A., has been right up at the top of the pitching lists all season and turning in victories that have helped keep the Colonels near the lead of the race. Jimmy isn't a giant for size, but he's got lots of stuff.

WASHINGTON SENATORS PLAY SNAPPY BALL EVEN THOUGH HOME FANS YAWN

The Washington Senators have been playing brilliant ball of late and are battling hotly with the Cleveland Indians for top place honors. Washington fans, however, are slow to warm up this season as they take only the mildest interest in the team. Walter Johnson has been pitching with his consistent brilliance, while Shanks and Henry have been pounding the pill with great success.

ORGANIZATION OF FRENCH FRUIT INDUSTRY AT PARIS

(By Associated Press.) Paris, June 29.—The Minister of Agriculture has just organized the French fruit industry, both the increase in production and processes of preserving, so as to compete with other fruit-producing countries. The recent prohibition of the importation of fruit into France called attention to the fact that while no country is better adapted to the production of fruits, France consumed annually about 60,000 tons more than she produced.

M. Meline, Minister of Agriculture attributes the heavy importations of fruits into France to the fact that aside from grapes, apples and pears, the French fruit-growers generally have not developed as they might have done their method of canning and preserving and distribution of preserved fruits. The commission just appointed will be expected to report upon the favorable localities in France for the building of canning establishments and other ways of furnishing a quick market to fruit-growers in the regions adapted to fruit culture.

A Slight Matter.

"I don't see you at Miss Golder's receptions any more, old man."

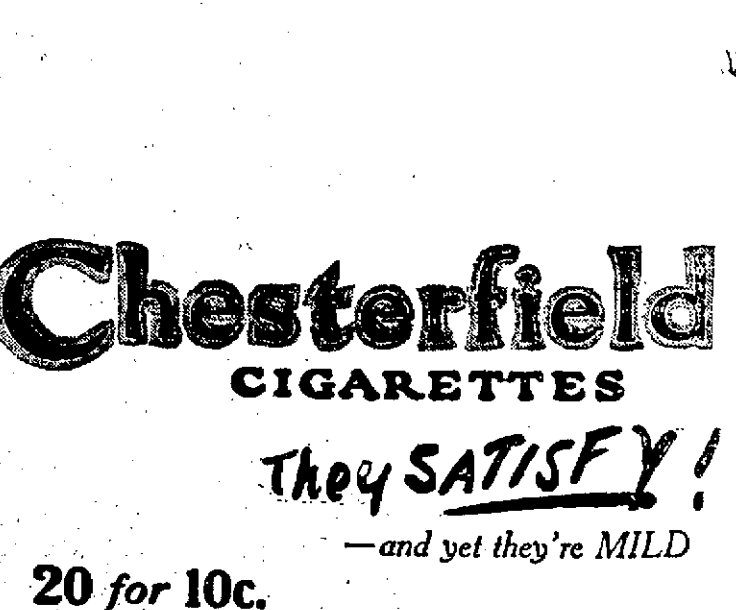

"No, she and I had a little difference of opinion."

"Nothing serious, I hope."

"Oh, no; only I thought I was the man she ought to marry and she thought I wasn't, that's all."

Everyday Wisdom

TURN IT ON, GEORGE, THIS WILL GET A LAUGH

FIRE HOSE

Fire hose are used on burning buildings and in funny moving pictures. They are meant (fire hose) to be used very accurately or very inaccurately. If used accurately, they will sometimes put out a fire. If the department gets there on time. If used inaccurately, they will provoke theaters full of laughter.

If a moving picture has a fire hose in it, it is funny. Somebody always has two things to do; one of them is to manage the fire hose, and the fire hose shoots here and there, spreading pneumonia. Pretty soon the person responsible for the fire hose turns around and sees what he is doing and is stricken with repentance and is very worried and absent-minded and he thoughtlessly turns the fire hose on himself and gives himself pneumonia. It is very funny.

Fire hose is or are very long, but they can be condensed in a number of ways. It can be rolled up on a reel and made into a round mass, or it can be folded and made into almost any kind of mass. Fire hose is or are most useful when stretched out, and is absolutely ineffective without the addition of water. The Bloomington, Indiana, Fire Department has tried a number of times to put fire out with dry, waterless hose, but has not had marked success. One end of a fire hose should be tied to a tree or attached to a water plug or otherwise secured, while you run around with the other end.

Noncommittal. A certain cabinet minister who was buttonholed the other day by an over-inquisitive journalist administered a very neat rebuff.

"How long do you think the war will last?" was the final question of a long series asked by the interviewer. "Very promptly the minister asked: 'How long is a piece of string?'"

The interviewer stared at him in astonishment.

"I don't know," he gasped.

"Neither do I," said the minister, cordially. "I'm glad we've agreed about something. Good morning!"

Tic-Bits.

Wife's Christian Name. A big, elderly English farmer called on a solicitor and said he'd like to make his will. "I'll leave my brass to the wife," he said; "we've been married 30 years." The solicitor prepared to receive particulars. "What's your wife's Christian name?" he asked. The farmer scratched his head, thought, scratched his head again. No, he couldn't remember. Hanged if he knew at all. The solicitor thought of a ruse. "Walk to that door," he suggested, "and call upstairs as if you're calling her." The farmer did so. He called out, "Miseau!"

MOTOR TRUCK OUSTS MULE; CHAUFFEUR REPLACES TEAMSTER

Army motor trucks in service along the border. The old army mule is being rapidly replaced by Uncle Sam with the army truck. Scores of trucks are now on the way to the border, and army men say they are much more serviceable than mules. The picturesque army teamster also is rapidly passing, giving way to chauffeurs and mechanics.

Platinum Deposits. One found in the yellow pine mining district of Nevada, contains rich platinum deposits.

Recreation. It is to be feared that the recreation for children, so much talked about these days, will, if not closely watched, interfere with their education, says Columbus Journal. It is well to do a little thinking in this direction, seeing that youth has its own way of providing for recreation and does not depend upon the new methods of enticing it to fun and activity. Besides, it is good for a boy to rig up his own methods of amusement. Catering to boys and girls with all sorts of devices to amuse them does them more harm than good. Turn them loose, give them liberty, let them enjoy themselves, and they will be stronger and better for it. In these days of pleasure and amusement it would be better for the youth if it were restrained a little rather than encouraged. Making a boy dependent upon others for fun will tend to make him dependent for his needs in afterlife. Education without self-reliance is a failure.

Rarest Violins in World. The rarest violins in the world are those which were made by Guarnerius del Gesu, only about forty of them being known to exist. One of these instruments was purchased by Ysaie for $30,000. Two famous Stradivarius instruments, which were used by Sarasate during his great concert tours, were sold. One of these, the Boiselle, is in a museum at Madrid. It is valued at $50,000. The other is in a museum in Paris. There are only 99 Stradivarius cellos in the world. Of the 300 Stradivarius violins that were made more than 200 have been bought and sold by one dealer.
